   C. PCB-contaminated soils remain at the site. The Environment Protection Authority (EPA) has been advised that a layer of capping material has been placed over in-situ contaminated soil and that recently excavated soil will be contained on the site.

   D. The EPA regulated the land to which this notice applies using notice powers under section 35 of the Environmentally Hazardous Chemicals Act 1985.

   E. The section 35 notices relating to the site have either been revoked by the EPA or ceased to have legal effect.

   c) Implement a Site Environmental Management Plan (SEMP) for the site that outlines measures designed to:

9/07/2014
• Ensure the long-term integrity of the capping material/containment areas, including inspections; and
• Prevent human health and environmental risks including the escape of PCBs to the surrounding environment; and • Ensure that:
  o Prior to any person carrying out any work or activity that may result in the disturbance of PCB-contaminated soil, samples of the soil are collected and tested for PCBs; and o If PCBs are detected above 50 mg/kg, the work or activity that may result in the disturbance of PCB-contaminated soil is not to be undertaken unless prior written approval has been obtained from the EPA and the work is undertaken in accordance with all requirements of that approval. The work must be conducted in accordance with the Polychlorinated Biphenyl (PCB) Chemical Control Order 1997; and • Provide guidance to builders and contractors who may access PCB-contaminated soil and specifically addresses the following:
  o The disturbance of potentially PCB-contaminated soil which may promote the mobility of PCBs; and o Any controls or protective equipment required to minimise worker exposure to potentially PCB-contaminated soil; and

d) Submit the SEMP to the EPA within three months from the date of this notice.

5. Notification of change of owner/occupier

At least 30 days prior to the recipient ceasing to be the owner or occupier of the land, as the case may be, the recipient must give written notification to the EPA of the name and contact details of the prospective owner or occupier.
